Volume 5 contains addenda to Volumes 1 to 4, together with a revised comprehensive bibliography.

The HDV is the first German dictionary of first names that documents the occurrence and distribution of nearly every first name given in the German language area since 1400, using evidence from numerous printed and other sources. It provides a foundation for further research into the history of German personal names and will also be of value in genealogical research. The alphabetical entries give information on the meaning (etymology), use and legitimacy of the names, together with their correct pronunciation and spelling, give the patrons, and quote relevant literature.
